

CAUTION: The media is NOT a reflection of reality. So, read the Delaware Valley's Funniest Newspaper... The South Jersey DEVILer

The day before Christmas vacation, a kindergarten teacher was opening gifts from her pupils. The florist's son handed her a gift. She shook it, held it over her head, and said, "I bet I know what it is, flowers!"

"That's right!" said the boy, "but how did you know?"

"Just a wild guess," she said. The next pupil was the candy store owner's daughter. The teacher held her gift overhead, shook it, and said, "I bet I can guess what it is... a box of candy!"

"That's right! But how did you know?" asked the girl.

"Just a lucky guess," said the teacher. The next gift was from the liquor store owner's son. The teacher held the bag over her head and noticed that it was leaking. She touched a drop of the leakage with her finger and tasted it. "Is it wine?" she asked.

"No," the little boy replied. The teacher repeated the process, touching another drop of the leakage to her tongue.

"Is it champagne?" she asked.

"No," the boy replied. The teacher then said, "I give up, what is it?"

The boy replied with a big smile, "A puppy!"

The 4-year-old boy who was asked to say grace before Christmas dinner. The family members bowed their head and he began his prayer, thanking God for all his friends, naming them one by one. Then he thanked God for Mommy, Daddy, brother, sister, Grandma, Grandpa, and all his aunts and uncles. Then he began to thank God for the food. He gave thanks for the ham, the dressing, the fruit salad, the cranberry sauce, the pies, the cakes, even the Cool Whip. Then he paused, and everyone waited and waited and waited. After a long silence, the youngster looked up at his mother and asked, "If I thank God for the broccoli, won't he know that I'm lying?"

No Room In The Inn?

A little boy in my Sunday school class, who's name happened to Joseph wanted to be Joseph in the Sunday School Christmas play. To his disappointment, he was cast as the landlord and he objected loudly, but to no avail.

When the play was presented, Mary and Joseph knocked on the door and asked him if he had a room for them.

Little Joseph smiled and said, "Yes, I have lots of room. Come on in!"

One beautiful December evening Huan Low and his new bride Jung Lee were lying on a beautiful Hawaiian beach. There was a romantic full moon, and Huan Low said, "Hey baby, let's play Weeweechu."

"Oh no, not now. Lets just look at the moon", said Jung Lee.

"Oh, c'mon baby, let's you and I play Weeweechu. I love you and it's the perfect time," Huan Low begged.

"But I had rather just hold your hand and watch the moon."

"Please Jung Lee, just once... play Weeweechu with me."

Jung Lee looked at Huan Low and said, "OK, we'll play Weeweechu."

Huan Low grabbed his guitar and they both sang... "Weeweechu a Merry Christmas, Weeweechu a Merry Christmas, Weeweechu a Merry Christmas, and a Hoppy New Year."
