A pastor was at church when he received a phone call from his wife that their daughter was very sick with a fever.

He immediately left church and stopped by the pharmacy to get some medication. He got back to his car and found that he had locked his keys in the car. He didn't know what to do, so he called home and told the his wife what had happened. She said that the fever was getting worse and added that, "You might find a coat hanger and use that to open the door."

The pastor went back into the drug store and the pharmacist looked around and found an old rusty coat hanger. He looked at the hanger and said, "I don't know how to do this." He bowed his head and asked God to send him help.

Within a minute a beat up old motorcycle pulled up, with a dirty, greasy, bearded man who was wearing an old biker skull rag on his head.

The pastor thought, "This is what you sent to help me?" But, he was desperate, so he was also very thankful. The man got off of his cycle and asked if he could help. The preacher replied, "Yes, my daughter is very sick. I stopped to get her some medication and I locked my keys in my car. I must get home to her fast. Please, can you use this hanger to unlock my car?"

He said, "Sure." He walked over to the car, and within a few seconds the car was open. He said, "Thank You So Much! You are a very kind man."

The man replied, "Preacher, I am not a nice man. I just got out of prison today. I was in prison for car theft and have only been out for about an hour."

The pastor shook the mans again and said, "Oh, Thank you God! You even sent me a professional!"

The minister told his congregation, "Next week I plan to preach about the sin of lying. To help you understand my sermon, I want you all to read Mark 17."

The following Sunday, as he prepared to deliver his sermon, the minister asked for a show of hands. He wanted to know how many had read Mark 17. Every hand went up. The minister smiled and said, "Mark has only 16 chapters. I will now proceed with my sermon on the sin of lying."

subject: The Coronavirus causing panic and worry...

I have to honestly believe that God has had enough of our arrogance and this may be a result of his impatience and anger with us?

Ever wonder what the last days would be like.... Well, look around. Despite our shortcomings and sin, I hear nothing about repentance. Today, public repentance would not be politically correct. To repent implies the existence/admittance of sin.

Despite our hardships from this virus, there will be some good that comes from this.... these good things are gracious gifts of the Highest God, who, while dealing with our country, our world, in anger for our sins, he nevertheless remembers mercy.

Keep an eye out and see these gifts.... and let them console us with peace and tranquility.

This is my say.... if I stepped on toes... they deserved to be stepped on.

The boss called one of his employees into the office. "Bobby," he said, "you've been with the company for a year. You started off as an office clerk, one week later you were promoted to a sales position, and one month after that you were promoted to district manager of the sales department. Just five short months later, you were promoted to vice-chairman. Now it's time for me to retire, and I want you to take over the company. What do you say to that?"

"Thanks," said the employee.

"Thanks?" the boss replied. "Is that all you can say?"

"I suppose not," the employee said. "Thanks, Dad."
