WORLD NEWS

A father wanted to read the newspaper, but was being bothered by his little daughter. Finally, he tore a sheet out of his World News paper, on which was printed the map of the world. Tearing it into small pieces, he gave it to her, and said, "Go into den and see if you can put this together."

After a few minutes, she returned and handed him the map correctly taped together. The father was surprised and asked how she had finished so quickly.

"Oh," she said, "on the other side of the paper was a picture of Jesus. When I got Jesus in His place, then the world came out all right."

We were riding in the church bus, doing a COLD Winter midnight run where we give out coats, bibles, coffee, food, and the good word to the homeless in our area. We passed two girls on the road and the pastor asked them if they needed a coat or food. They said no. He asked them if they wanted a coke. They replied,  "No, we're straight!"

PREACHER'S SERMON an old joke but worth one more laugh:

The preacher was asked to give a talk at a local women's health symposium. His wife asked about his topic, but he was too embarrassed to admit that he had been asked to speak about sex. Thinking quickly, he replied, "I'm talking about sailing."

"Oh that's nice", said his wife.

The next day, at the grocery store, a young woman who had attended the lecture recognized the minister's wife. "That was certainly an excellent talk your husband gave yesterday." She said, "He really has a unique perspective on the subject."

Somewhat uneasy, the minister's wife replied, "Gee, funny you should think so. I mean, he's only done it twice. The first time he threw up, and the second time, his hat blew off."

Son: Dad, You are my hero.
 Dad: Really?
 Son: Yes. Can you give me an autograph with your eyes closed?
 Dad: Well, yes, of course.
 Son: That's great! Then here, close your eyes and sign my report card.

Sen. Tammy Duckworth (D-Ill.) a potential Biden vice president pick, told CNN in an interview. She criticized President Trump's 4th of July speech at Mount Rushmore for focusing on the accomplishments of historical figures.

"He spent all of his time talking about dead traitors," said Duckworth.

"He spent more time worried about dead Confederates than he did talking about the 130,000 Americans with COVID-19 or by warning Russia or the bounty they are putting on Americans' heads," she said. "His priorities are all wrong here."

"Remember that the President at Mount Rushmore was standing on ground that was stolen from Native Americans who had actually been given that land during a treaty," she said.

In his speech, President Trump listed numerous historical figures and celebrities who played a large role in American history. Among those listed were the founding fathers, the presidents of Mt. Rushmore, Fredrick Douglass, Ulysses S. Grant, Martin Luther King, Harriet Tubman, and Elvis Presley.

"Our nation is witnessing a merciless campaign to wipe out our history, defame our heroes, erase our values, and indoctrinate our children," President Trump said, as he highlighted the accomplishments of notable Americans.

"Those who seek to erase our heritage want Americans to forget our pride and our great dignity, so that we can no longer understand ourselves or America's destiny. In toppling the heroes of 1776, they seek to dissolve the bonds of love and loyalty that we feel for our country, and that we feel for each other. Their goal is not a better America, their goal is the end of America," he continued.
